

This is an opportunity to read, think, and reflect. Not to talk. Please respect others in the room by not distracting them from their thoughts and allowing all to think about what this year has helped them accomplish.

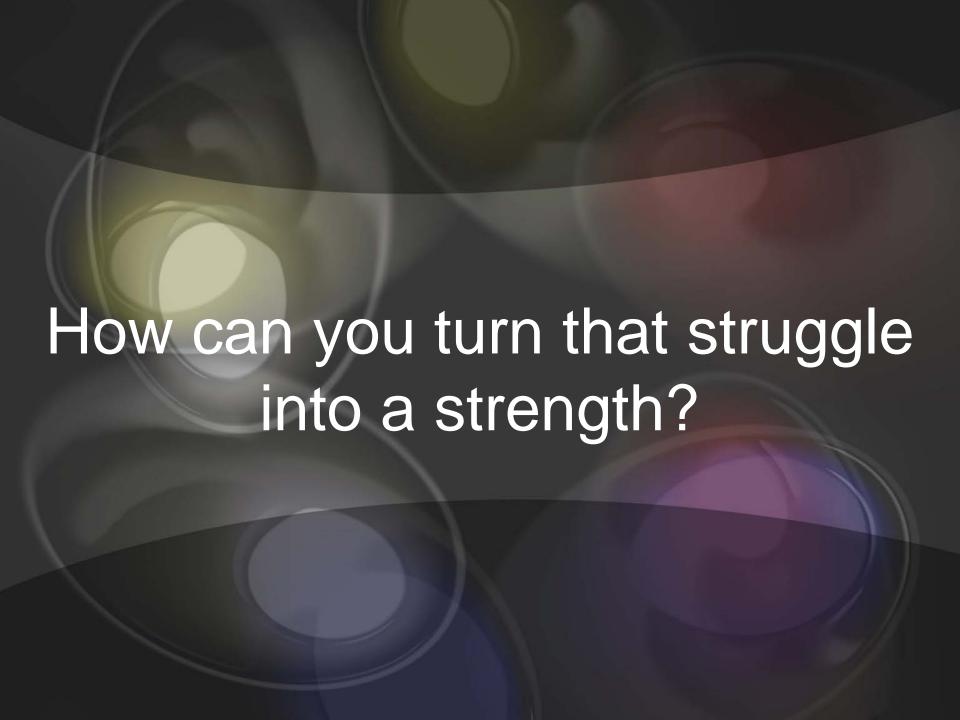

What is your greatest accomplishment so far in 4th grade?

- What subject have you improved in the most?
- What skill have you mastered that always confused you?
- How much have you grown with academics (grades) this year compared to 3rd grade?
- How much have you grown with work habits this year compared to 3rd grade?

What is your greatest weakness so far in 4th grade?

- What subject have you struggled in the most?
- What skill have you not mastered that still confuses you?
- What academic (grades) areas do you still feel stress about this year compared to 3rd grade?
 - What work habits do you still need to improve this year compared to 3rd grade?

How is your behavior/conduct so far in 4th grade?

- Have you been the most respectful student to your teachers and peers that you can possibly be? At all times? Even in the hallway?
- What subject do you have the hardest time behaving respectfully in?
 - What specific behavior do you struggle with?
 - Are you ready to act like a 5th grade leader?

What do you need to change to represent yourself, your teachers, and your school in the best possible way?

- We only have 31 days remaining, counting today.
- What academic goal could you meet to help you show greater success in 4th grade to help you confidently enter 5th grade next year?
- What work habit goal could you meet to help you show greater success in 4th grade to help you confidently enter 5th grade next year?
- What behavior goal could you meet to help you show greater success in 4th grade to help you confidently enter 5th grade next year?

Write those three goals on your piece of NB paper. Label them 1 (academic), 2 (work habit), 3 (behavior). Write your name at the top.

Testing

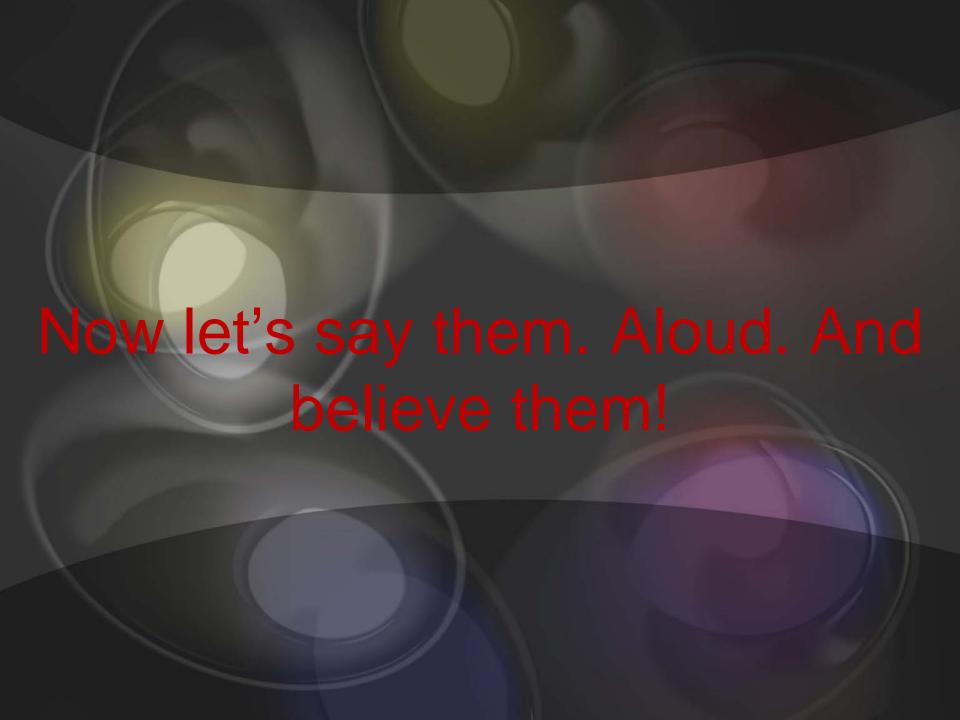

Testing can be scary. But it doesn't need to be!

You are Ready!

♦ I CAN:

- Start off strong by coming in ready for the day.
- Do my best.
- Think through everything carefully.
- Read all directions & questions carefully.
- Miss a question I don't know and not give up or think negatively!
- Show work, plan writing, edit answers.
- Double check carefully by actually rereading and redoing questions.

Let's read these together:

♦ I CAN:

- Start off strong by coming in ready for the day.
- Do my best.
- Think through everything carefully.
- Read all directions & questions carefully.
- Miss a question I don't know and not give up or think negatively!
- Show work, plan writing, edit answers.
- Double check carefully by actually rereading and redoing questions.